

Deloitte Legal Italian Desk

Providing a wide range of services for the Italian business community and investors

The long-standing and close business relationship between Germany and Italy is based on both countries' strong similarities with regard to history, politics, and culture, forming the ideal basis for shared economic activities.

According to statistics issued by the Association of German Chambers of Industry and Commerce e.V. (DIHK) in Berlin, Italy is Germany's fifth-most important trading partner, while Germany is Italy's preferred partner with 16.3 percent of Italian exports falling to Germany in 2019. That year, German exports to Italy amounted to more than 68 billion euros, while German imports from Italy totaled 57 billion euros. In this context, Germany's five most significant trade regions are Lombardy, Veneto, Emilia-Romagna, Piemonte, and Lazio. As well as motorized vehicles and vehicle parts, the key goods traded between the two countries are chemical products, machinery, and food products. ➤
